

POWER EQUIPMENT

▲ File photo of the sixth edition of ELECAMA held at Mumbai in January 2010

IEEMA launches ELECAMA 2012

Indian Electrical & Electronics Manufacturers' Association (IEEMA), India's leading agency representing the manufacturing of electrical, industrial equipment and allied instruments, has announced the launch of 20th edition of ELECAMA, to be held during January 18-22, 2012 in Mumbai, India. The Fair & Expo will be the country's largest one-stop shop for power transmission and distribution, and electrical and industrial electronics.

For the first time, there will include power, heavy industries & public enterprises and consumer & industry have come forward to support. The signature event has been presented to include the technology and innovation week.

Cooperating in the event stands, M/s. India Power Watch, Chennai-60, ELECAMA 2012, 542710345 in the wake of an infrastructure boom and the power sector has a key role to play. As per government estimates, $500 billion of planned investments in power generation, transmission and distribution and at various stages of projects and ELECAMA 2012 will play a huge role in the emerging market, more sectors and decision makers together. IEEMA will aim to present the India Power Factor, a global platform that will position India in the right perspective.

Seen as the largest conference of the power T&E sector ranging from 1,500 to 2,000+ exhibitors and power electronics, 10,000+ visitors and exhibitors of hardware for control, automation and instrumentation along with 150+ industry companies of various, thought leaders, innovators and contributors from the industry, industry practitioners,